VOL. CXXXII—No. 261. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1916. PRICE 2 CENTS

ELECTION DAY IS QUIET

Casting Ballots in Four Wards of City Proceeding Slowly and in Good Order

The election of a President of the United States, a Senator from this state and a Congressman from this district caused but little excitement in Alexandria today. This city being one of the strongholds of democracy, the result could have been arrived at approximately several weeks ago. Alexandria will, of course, give Wilson and Marshall a large majority—in fact the bulk of the votes will be cast for them, while Hon. Charles C. Carlin will have a virtual walkover as the candidate to succeed himself. Senator Swanson is also a candidate to succeed himself. He has no opposition.

The polls were opened in this city at sunrise this morning at the following places:

First ward—Armory Hall.

Second ward—In a building formerly used as a saloon on the west side of Royal street, between King and Cameron.

Third ward—on Queen street, between Columbus and Alfred.

Fourth ward — Old Friendship Engine house.

Voting was slow, as soon as the polls were opened, although suffragans were not wanting,but the ticket being about two feet long, it took time and care in its preparation. But two booths were in each ward, and the officers conducting the election would not hand out tickets until the booths were vacated by voters. Some men who are employed in Washington were unable to await their turns, and were forced to postpone casting their ballots until later in the day. Others who are employed in this city postponed voting until the lunch hour or when they shall have finished the day's labors.

There were no breaches of the peace, nor were there any indications that any one had the temerity to distribute liquor in face of the present drastic prohibition law.

The number of votes cast in the respective wards at 3 o'clock this afternoon were:

First Ward	297
Second Ward	308
Third Ward	356
Fourth Ward	316
Total	1277

WOMEN VOTE IN 11 STATES

Will Help Decide in Disposal of 91 Electoral Votes.

New York, Nov. 7.—Woman's part in today's Presidential election is one of the outstanding features. In one quarter of the 48 states women have the vote this year. The 11 states are Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, Montana and Illinois.

The women in the last-named six states have the vote for President this year for the first time. The interest political leaders take in this vote can be appreciated when it is seen that the states involved have 91 electoral votes, a little more than one-sixth of the Electoral College's total vote.

One woman, Miss Jeannett Rankin, of Montana is running for Congress on the Republican ticket, If she is elected Montana will be the first state of the nation to send a woman to Congress. The Progressives of the First Colorado Congressional district also nominated a woman, Hattie K. Howard, but she has since withdrawn.

MENU FOR TODAY.

The Philadelphia Record, which contains daily a menu, suggests the following for today:

Convention-alities (Oysters)
Stump Speeches Rolls.
Stuffed Ballot Boxes.
Election Bets (Roast and Vegetables)
Clean-Sweep Salad.
Opposing-Party Pudding.
Three Cheers for Candi-dates.

Dance

A dance will be given by Miss Emerita Warnock, Thursday evening, Nov. 9th, at Elks Home Prince street from 8 to 12. Admission $1.00 per couple. 261-3t.

ARCHIVES OF BURGUNDY

Recent Burning of Mansion Near Alexandria Suggests Memories of The Ancient Estate

Mr. James D. Preston, residing in Washington, contributes the following interesting history of "Burgundy," the mansion on which estate was recently destroyed by fire:

The recent destruction by fire of the fine old mansion which stood on the crest of the hill known as Burgundy removed a landmark that had been a familiar sight for several generations. I wonder of the thousands who saw this house how many ever gave a thought to the history of the land on which it was located?

The Burgundy farm is in the center of a tract of 1148 acres that was granted to George Brent in 1677 by the proprietors of the Northern Neck. Upon his death, the land passed to his two sons, George and William, and in 1730 they sold to Hugh French eight hundred acres. Daniel French, as son of Hugh, inherited the land and in May 1742, seven months before the county of Fairfax was created, he sold four hundred acres to two brothers, Richard and Robert Sanford, of Westmoreland county. These brothers evidently were attracted to the norther county by the marriage of a sister to Daniel French. The land was described as "being on the south side of Holmes Run", but a survey of Brent's patent on file in the Fairfax court house, made in 1802, shows that the boundary line started at a point on Cameron Run, about one thousand feet east of where is now located the bridge on the Telegraph road. This line ran in a north west direction to the turnpike, the northern point of a great triangle, and then in a southwesterly direction nearly two miles. From that point its course was almost due east to the run that parallels the Telegraph road at a point about fifteen hundred feet south of where the Franconian road intersects the Telegraph road, then up the run to the starting point. Nearly four hundred acres of this land was retained by Daniel French and upon his death, in 1748, he provided that his "loving wife Elizabeth" should have the use of the whole estate during her natural life, but after her decease it was to be divided between his godson, Daniel Sanford, his sister, Margaret Hansberry and Edward Sanford. In 1782 they sold it to Josiah Watson, of Alexandria.

Robert Sanford's land, one hundred and ninety seven acres, was located in the south west part of the triangle, where is now the Evergreen farm owned by C. H. Gladden. Robert Sanford died in 1769 and all of this land became the property of his eldest son, Richard, who sold it to Josiah Watson in 1794 and removed to Fauquier county where he died in 1798. With the acquisition of the Sanford parcel, Josiah Watson was the owner of 471 acres. The writer endeavored to follow the ownership to a later period but the loss of several of the deed books made this impossible. With the sale of this land by Richard there seems to end all record of this family, although he had five brothers, William, Robert who is supposed to have served in the Revolutionary war, John, James and Edward and a sister. Frances. But not one of them is again mentioned in the Fairfax county records.

The land of the other brother, Richard, two hundred and six acres, adjoined that of Robert and is the site of the present Burgundy farm. resided on this tract until his death in 1799 when all of his land passed to his youngest son, Presley, who sold it to James Hewett Hooe, of Alexandria, 1806. Thomas Sanford, a former resident of Alexandria, who was identified with the Alexandria-Washington Lodge, was a grandson of this Richard, his father being Lawrence, the oldest son. For a family that was so prominent in the early history of the county it seems remarkable the very few traces left. Both brothers, Richard and Robert were inspectors of tobacco at the Hunting Creek warehouse for many years. One question continually in the mind of the writer as he walked over these beautiful farms was, "where are the graves of these pioneers and their families?" Daniel French, the younger is buried in front of the house at Rose Hill, where a fine slab covers the grave, the grave of the senior French, one of the very early settlers, has been lost sight of and forgotten; in fact, I doubt if many of the present generation ever heard that there was more than one Daniel French connected with the early history of the county. The widow of the elder French, Elizabeth, afterward married Presley Cox and she died in 1792. She probably was buried on the home place, as was her brother Robert Sanford with his wife Elizabeth, the custom in those days, but I have been unable to secure the slightes trace of such a place. Richard Sanford and his wife, Penelope, doubtless were buried in the yard at Christ Church, as he was mentioned as having been one of the vestrymen of that church. There is however no record of this burial.

Standing on the crest of the hill at the Evergreen farm, toward the close of a clear, crisp October afternoon, I was thrilled by the sudden view of the dome of the Capitol building, above the distant trees, illumined by the golden rays of the setting sun. While gazing at this scene the thought occured to me how fitting indeed if somewhere on the crest of that hill should be located the final resting place of those hardy settlers.

THE ENDEAVOR SOLD AGAIN.

Historic Steamer Was Built By Jewels of Southern Women.

The historic steamer Endeavor, which was purchased by Councilman Charles A. Jording, of Baltimore, from the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, again changes owners. Mr. Jording has brought the vessel from the Middle Branch to his wharf at the foot of Covington street Baltimore, where he will remove the engines and boilers preparatory to sending her to Sparrows Point, where her new owners will have bitts fitted for making her fast. The Ore Steamship Corporation Company of New York., has purchased the vessel and will convert her into a stake boat, as a place for crews used on their barges about New York harbor.

The Endeavor was originally the Lady Davis, built at the Norfolk Navy Yard, when the Confederates were in possession, while the Merrimac was destroying Federal warships in Hampton Roads. Virginia ladies contributed jewels and money to build and prepare her for service. When Norfolk was captured, the Lady Davis was partially burned in the fire that destroyed the navy yard. She was rebuilt and became a coast survey vessel after the war.

Boss Hosse Shoers. On account of material being so high, horse shoeing hereafter will be $1.50 per set. 1-259-3t.

Alexandria City and Suburbs

The Willard W. C. T. U. will meet tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, in the Trinity M. E. Church.

Mrs. William Cabell Trueman, of Westhampton, Richmond, is the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson, in The Wagar.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Dodd and Little Miss Elizabeth Dodd have moved to Braddock Heights, after having lived for the past year on a farm in Fairfax county.

In order to accommodate the election crowds the trolley cars from Washington will run on a 15-minute schedule tonight, the last car for Alexandria leaving at 1 a. m.

Mrs. Robert Beverley Minis has returned to her home in New York, after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis James Davidson, at their home on South Royal street.

At the regular meeting of the Alexandria Trades Council, held last night the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term: President, Thos. H. Nelson; Vice President, John Morton; Recording Secretary, Thos. R. Fones; Financial, secretary and treasurer, Jas. A. Clarke; conductor, A. Warring; sentinel, T. G. Trenary; trustees, C. Connelly, M. APPLE SHOW NEXT MONTH

Display of 1916 Will Be Made in Roanoke December 5th to 7th

Two or more cities of the South are to have the opportunity of a great apple show this season. The Virginia Horticultural Society through its secretary, W. P. Massey, announces that the prize winnings of its big annual apple show will be shown in Southern cities instead of in New York and other cities of the East as heretofore.

The 1916 apple show of Virginia will be held at Roanoke, December 5-7, in the big new auditorium which will enable growers to stage a record breaking exhibit. And there is now every indication that it will be, as the increase of several hundred dollars in the cash prizes is having a magic effect, the entries now being much larger than any previous season.

Virginia's winning again the great sweepstakes prize at the International Shippers Association at Niagara Falls in August in competiton with apples from England, Canada and every section of the United States has given the apples of this State a wonderful boost. It has caused a big influx of buyers, many of them from new territory.

However, the South will continue to take considerable part of Virginia's apples. It is for the development of these Southern markets that these exhibits are to be changed. Fortunate indeed will be the cities securing these big displays of the prize-winning apples of the Old Dominion.

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENS

Four Teachers and Fifty-two Students in Attendance

The night school under the direction of the Parents-Teachers' Association opened last night in Lee School building under far more auspicious conditions than a similar attempt eight or ten years ago.

Fifty-two pupils were in attendance last night and it is hoped more will enroll later. Miss Nellie Payne will be the only paid teacher, but this month Miss Elizabeth King and Miss Eddie Dickert will give their services, and other teachers have volunteered. The higher grades will be taught by Mrs. G. R. Buddin, one of the members of the association, though not a regular teacher. The association has been greatly encouraged by the hearty support they have received from the teachers.

HOW THIS MAN DOES IT

Tells How He Dresses on $19.70 Per Year—Thinks Information Should be Published for Benefit of Poor

All of the various classes of people which make up the population of this old world find their way into a newspaper office in the course of time. Some of them drop in like a ray of bright sunshine, others bring along their tale of woe and an urgent request that the editor criticise certain things concerning the city or its people which they are sure ought to be changed, while the next to arrive will present a plan which he is positive will prove of especial benefit to everybody if the newspaper will simply spread the good news.

Occasionally a kind-hearted, would-be philanthropist appears on the scene. One of the latter found his way into the Gazette sanctum a few days ago. He was one of the good-natured sort of chaps, with a cheery disposition which the storms of sixty or more years had not made sour. And, of course, he brought with him his pet project, which was to show how a poor man could dress on the sum of $10.70 per year. As to just the number of men in Alexandria who will care to follow his suggestions the Gazette is somewhat doubtful, however, it may be interesting to some to see how their philanthropist friend does it, as shown by the following.

The Clothes he Wears and Where he Gets Them

Many men dress more stylishly than I do, but the clothing that I wear makes me look well enough to be seen any place where well-clothed people appear. I buy almost everything that covers and adorns my "manly form" at second hand stores, and every article I get there is clean and ready to immediately put on. If I need a coat, I get one in perfect condition, of good cloth and make, that looks as good as new and that will last almost as long, for $1.50; a vest as good, 15 to 25c; pants to correspond, 75c to $1.50; shoes, 75c to $1.25; a fine looking, durable hat, 25c. At a clothing store, I get heavy socks or light ones for 10c, a celluloid collar that will wear for months and never needs a laundry, which a little rubbing with water every few days will keep clean, costs me 10 or 15c, and a never wash rubber one will cost 25c or less; an elegant necktie, any color my taste craves, for 10c at the Ten Cent stores; a shirt, 15 to 25c at the second hand store; underwear, (suit) 50c.

Now let us see how much the entire outfit strains my pocketbook at the higher price I mentioned of each article.

Shoes	$1.25
Hat	.25
Collar	.15
Necktie	.10
Shirt	.25
Coat	1.50
Vest	.25
Socks	.10
Summer Underwear	.50
Pants	1.50
Total	$5.85

Now three outfits as good as the above will last me a year, that is, 3 coats, 3 vests, 3 hats, 3pair of pants, 3 pairs of shoes; but I must have 3 more pairs of socks, 3 more collars, 3 more neckties; another suit of summer underwear, at 50c; winter underwear, at 50c per garment, $2.00; an overcoat, $2.00, and 2 pairs of gloves at 25c a pair—50c. This makes the grand total for the year $19.70.

If I pay the lower price mentioned for each article of the outfit, it will cost me only $3.60.

As my winter underwear costs me twice the price of my summer underclothes, and I must have overcoat and gloves in cold weather, the expense of my outfit for winter, at the highest figure I mentioned for each article, will be:

Hat	25c
Collar	15c
Necktie	10c
Shirt	25c
Vest	25c
Pants	$1.50
Socks	10c
Shoes	$1.25
Underwear	$1.00
Overcoat	$2.00
Gloves	25c
Total	$7.10

If I think I can't afford to patronize a bootblack, I black my shoes with a five-cent box of polish that will stay with me two weeks. When my shoe-soles need repair, I get new half-soles at the Ten-Cent Store and have a cobbler nail them on; or, if the heels need fixing, I get some new ones, leather or rubber, at the Ten-Cent Store and have the shoemaker fasten them.

I am dressed today at the following expense: Hat, 25c; Collar, 15c; Necktie, 10c; Winter Underwear, 70c; White linen shirt, 20c; vest, 15c; coat 50c; pants $1.00; shoes, 70c; socks, 10c; Total cost, $3.75. I look like a well dressed man.

My cheap, well-dressing receipt is especially useful to poor men in the winter when money and work are hard to get. Cold weather is fast coming on.

Death Notice

On November 5, 1916 at her late home 1116 King street, MRS. MARGARITE E. HANRAHAN, beloved wife of M. A. Hanrahan. Funeral from St. Mary's Church Wednesday November 8 at 9:30 a. m. 260-2t.

Oyster season opens at the Rammel Cafe, North Royal Street.

THREE FOR GRAND JURY

Two White Men and a Negro Before Police Court This Morning for Violating Prohibition Law.

Four persons were in the dock in the Police Court this morning charged with infractions of the prohibition law.

Thomas S. Thomas, of Washington was the first to face the bar He had been arrested by Sergeant Scott for being drunk on the streets. Thomas, in his statement, said he started to walk from the capital city to Alexandria yesterday after having taken two drinks of whisky. When within a mile of the city he entered an automobile when he took another drink from a bottle. He was ordered to be held for the Alexandria county authorities to answer the charge of drinking liquor in a public place.

Ernest Weems, colored, was the next delinquent. He had been arrested in the house of Alice Kitts, colored, in the northeastern section of the city by Sergeant Scott and Officers Kerns and Miller, who made a descent upon the house and arrested Weems and all persons in the house. In the party were two young colored women from Washington and a colored man of this city. Weems plead ignorance, alleging he was not aware of the fact that he broke the law when he gave Alice Kitts a drink out of a quart bottle of whisky. He was ordered to be held for the grand jury.

John Devitt and William Whalen followed. They had been arrested by Chief Goods and Officer Roland for drinking in a public place. Devitt and Whalen were two of four men who were seen in the alley running from King street to the market drinking from a bottle. They were sent on to the grand jury. The accused were represented by Messrs. Robinson Koncure and H. N. Garner.

TAFT JEERED AND HOOTED.

Munition Workers Prevent Him From Making Speech.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7.—When former President William H. Taft attempted to make a political speech to a crowd of workmen at a local munitions factory yesterday he was jeered and hooted to such an extent that he had to abandon the address after talking a few minutes.

Talking of the affair afterward, Professor Taft said:

"I have no complaint to make. Such demonstrations, I am disposed to think, make votes for the Republican party."

He added that he did not care to strain his voice, as he was to speak at a rally later.

ENFORCING PROHIBITION

It was stated in the Gazette last week that Richmond policemen have been instructed to arrest all persons found drunk upon the streets, and that such delinquents will be compelled to face the Police Court. Heretofore men too far gone to take care of themselves were often picked up by the police, and, when not disorderly, were allowed to leave the station house after they had resumed their normal condition.

Similar courtesies have been accorded in Alexandria, but under the present order of things all drunken persons, no matter who the unfortunates may be, will be taken in custody, and should they not have collateral at hand will be placed in the dock of the Police Court, and fined five dollars each.

This, we believe, is the first time such a course has been adopted since the days of Doctor J. B. Johnson, who was elected Mayor of Alexandria in 1876 on what was known as the "Potato Bug" ticket. The orders were to pick up all persons found on the streets drunk. The fine at that time was one dollar. The orders were to arrest only such as were found on the streets, and often men who had remained too long in place of conviviality were afraid to trust their legs on their way to their homes. As long as a policeman was in the vicinity they remained where they were until the minion of the law disappeared. Some amusing [illegible] occurred during the brief time this rule was being enforced.

The purpose of the framers of the prohibition law as well as those who are endeavoring to enforce its observance in the state is to make drunkenness odious, and in order to do so they have determined to make all people who may use intoxicants to be responsible for their acts.

The disposition of "drunks" has been a perplexing question for centuries. Otho when ruling what had been left of the old Roman Empire, was disgusted with the conviviality of certain people in his day. He adopted a rule that all persons taken up for intoxication should be tossed up in blankets in some public place as soon as they became sober. This punishment, however, did not deter those who had a mania for strong drink.

GERMAN MAGNANIMITY

It is nearly 125 years since Prussia acceded to the Austro-Russian partition compact with respect to Poland and the conquered Polish provinces were divided among the national spoilsmen. The third partition of Poland took place in 1796. Now, in 1916, two of the parties to that shameful bargain undertake to restore the independent sovereignty of this ancient nation. Germany and Austria-Hungary by joint action on November 6 "proclaimed Warsaw and Lubin the Kingdom of Poland and re-established the right of the Polish people to control their own destinies, to live an independent national life and to govern themselves by chosen representatives."

A contemporary in commenting upon German's course towards Poland suggests that the dispatches from Berlin, which describe in glowing terms this act of historic justice, do not outline exactly the frontiers of the new kingdom, for the excellent reason that the third party to the original robbery has not been consulted and is engaged in a war which, in case of Russian victory, might mean the acquisition of rich slices of German and Austrian territory, a "partition" that neither of the latter could contemplate without indignation. So far as we can gather from the cablegram, however, it would appear that the two conscience-stricken powers are not restoring their own share of the swag, but the part which was "benevolently assimilated" by Russia.

Probably the controlling impulse which led to this action is the desire and intention to enforce conscription in Poland. Germany has failed to get the Poles to enlist as volunteers. With a government friendly to her she can apply compulsion.

PRESIDENT WILSON

The New York Times, conceded to be one of the most able exponents of the principles of Democracy, as well as one of the fairest and most impartial newspapers in the land, has the following to say concerning President Wilson and the trying experiences which have come to him during the past four years:

Woodrow Wilson has had to bear trials and anxieties greater than those that have beset any president since Lincoln. There have been dark hours in the White House, dark hours for the country. There have been grave questions to determine, decisions to make involving the peace of the country, the security of the people. His great determinations he has had to make alone, for, upon him rested the responsibility. What Theirs said of the Provisional Government of France while the German armies were still occupying French territory is peculiarly true of President Wilson—he is at the post, not of power, but of danger. With fortitude, with calmness, with wisdom, with a mind resolute to safeguard the honor and the peace of the country, he has in the noble spirit of devoted patriotism made his nomeutores decisions and done his duty as an Amercan President.

TRAINING OUR BOYS

The training up of our American boys into useful citizens—men who will strive to maintain the honor of their country through patriotic love for it—is a work that should be encouraged whenever opportunity is offered. Patriotism and loyalty to America and American institutons, as taught by the Junior Guard, which has a branch in Alexandria, is most commendable and should command the serious consideration of every father and mother who have sons between the ages of twelve and eighteen.

The principles which the teachings of the order inculcate are of a high and elevating character, beyond the criticism of either church or state. In a word, it means better citizenship, of which we cannot have to much.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Paragraphs Picked Up Here and There Throughout the State.

H. S. Callahan, who occupied a room in one of a half block of buildings destroyed by fire in Clifton Forge yesterday with a loss of $110,000, perished in the flames. Callahan had aroused others from their slumbers but when he started for safety all entrances were cut off by the flames. The fire was in the heart of the business district and a great deal of valuable property was endangered for several hours.

Col. Joseph E. Willard, American Ambassador at Madrid, reached Richmond yesterday over the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, coming from Habana. He cast his vote in the presidential election at his home in Fairfax today. Col. Willard was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, the latter formerly Miss Belle Willard.

Mrs. A. C. Royall, giving her occupation as seamstress, thirty-five years old, of Richmond was before Justice Crutchfield yesterday charged with having more liquor in her possession than allowed by the prohibition law. According to officers of the purity squad, who arrested her Sunday afternoon, she had two quarts of whisky stored in her refrigerator and eighty-four bottles of beer. In addition, she and James Owens, a contractor, twenty-five years old, were charged with disorderly conduct in the house. On this charge each was fined $20.

Carrying a grip which was heavily burdened with ardent spirits, Herbert Sydnor, colored, tried to travel from Baltimore to his home in Scottsville without encountering the law. Sydnor was just a few miles from home when the grip was opened by an officer of the law as the man was preparing to board a train at the Southern Railway depot Saturday night when he was stopped by policeman in Richmond and he was taken in custody.

In a fight betwee negroes at Hopewell Saturday, a negro, unknown to the authorities there, was shot and killed. Later in the night an officer from Hopewell served a warrant on a negro named N. Jackson at the colored hospital in this city, charged with being implicated in the murder. Jackson is suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen. Another negro, George Carr, thought to be implicated in the murder surrendered to the Hopewell authorities Sunday.

Several hundred federalized national guardsmen on the border in the Brownsville district already have cast their ballots for today's election. Among these are the Virginia troops, who have been balloting for several days by mail.

While the one arrest Wednesday, two Thursday and no arrests Friday were taken as a matter of fact by members of the Lynchburg Police Department the one lone arrest made Saturday, which was made by a railway detective on a trespass charge, caused the veterans of the department to "sit up and take notice," that a change had taken place.

Yesterday's session of the Petersburg Police Court was, from many standpoints, the most singular for a Monday, morning docket ever recorded. There were only three drunks on the docket and one of the three, a woman, stated to the court that she had not touched a drop of intoxicants in three years and four days.

BETTING AT EVEN MONEY

New York, Nov. 7—The flood of ballots which will sweep either Wilson or Hughes into the Presidency March 4 began rising early today. Clear autumn weather ushered in election day in practically every section.

While publicly sponsors for the Republican and Democratic organizations declare entire confidence in the vote, privately they are very much at sea.

In no previous election has there been such complete lack of indication of which way the straws blow. The "silent vote" has been more silent than ever. Since the campaign opened about August 1, there have been half a dozen different "trends" to public sentiment. Overlaping at times. Today both sides were claiming the benefit of such a current.

The most unusual eleventh-hour development in connection with the election was in the betting. Wall Street prides itself on having always picked a winner. Up to midnight the odds favored Hughes.

But today they opened with less advantage to the Republican nominee—almost at even money.

WORDS FROM THE MAN WHO KNOWS

He Suffered and got Well and Now in Glowing Terms Praises Tanlac.

"You will thank me and thank the Cooper Medicine Co., and I advise all my friends to take Tanlac. I recommend it from the bottom of my heart for it did a world of good. I was suffering the worst kind of headaches which gradually lead into almost daily spells of blindness and pains almost driving me frantic. I couldn't see when they attacked me, and this stomach trouble had been bothering me for months. I took a lot of different remedies, but until Tanlac came got no results. Everytime I would eat anything a knot seemed to form in my stomach which also bothered me. Before I had taken the first bottle of Tanlac I knew I was improving. Now, I can eat anything I want and the headaches and blind spells have disappeared. I am pleased indeed to recommend it to any of my friends in need of sure relief from these troubles." So spoke P. M. Creasy, traveling railroad man residing at Buchanon, Va.

He secured Tanlac at the local store there, the Clore Drug Co., and you can get it at Landbester Drug Corporation, Alexandria, and G. T. Mankn and Co., Falls Church.

VETERAN ASSOCIATION

Annual Banquet and Reunion of Officers of Third Virginia Infantry Is Largely Attended

Gathering in the Metropolitan Hotel, Washington, D. C., Saturday night for the second annual reunion and banquet, the Association of Veteran Officers, Third Virginia Infantry, United States Volunteers in the war with Spain elected to membership in the organization the following comrades' Colonel James Mann, Company C, of Norfolk; William F. Long, of Charlottesville; Captain George L. Wertenbaker, of the United States Coast Artillery Corps; Lieutenant Stuart A. Howard, Company D. of Detroit, Mich.; Captain Thomas B. Cochran, and Major Thomas A. Fisher, of Alexandria; James W. Ballard, Company I, of Fairfax; Senator C. O'Conor Goolrick, Lieutenant William D. Richardson and Lieutenant A. G. Billingsley, of Fredericksburg and Dr. Herbert C. Mallory and Lieutenant Russell E. Norvell, of Richmond; R. Walton Moore of Fairfax, and Captain James N. Barney, of Fredericksburg, were elected honorary members, on account of special services rendered the regiment while it was on duty.

Present at the banquet Saturday night were officers from Richmond, Washington, D. C., New York City, Philadelphia, Culpeper, Charlottesville, Faber, Lynchburg, Alexandria, Fairfax, Falls Church, and Fredericksburg. Lieutenant Richard C. L. Moncure, of Falls Church, who has just returned from Argentina, was present for the first time since the association was organized. Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson, an honorary member of the association, was present and spoke.

Fredericksburg was selected as the place for the next annual meeting. All the officers of last year were re-elected as follows: Colonel Thomas S. Keller, of Charlottesville, president; Major William M. Smith, of Alexandria, vice-president; Captain Joseph LeMasurier, of Richmond, secretary-treasurer.

GAS BOMBS SCATTER DINERS.

Striking Waiters in San Francisco Use New Missiles.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—One of the horrors of trench warfare, namely gas bombs, are becoming a daily feature of the strike of the waiters and culinary workers here. One of the lunch establishments, where hundreds of women lunch daily, was emptied hurriedly at noon yesterday by a powerful ordor.

Investigation disclosed that a thin glass container inclosed in a candy box had been dropped on the floor, the fumes spreading instantly throughout the room. The previous day several small "bombs" had been dropped at the same hour.

One of the biggest cafes was also cleared yesterday noon, and an attempt to "bomb" a second spoiled by the plotter having accidentally dropped the package on the sidewalk on his or her way in.

Those who fled the bombed cafes found themselves unpopular in others, they attempted to finish their lunch in, the liquid having clung to their shoes and made itself "felt." Several hours were required to clear the air of the unfortunate cafes. Not one suspect has been questioned so far.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Poland, rich in romance, of storied interest almost unparalleled in fascination, was recreated yesterday, according to a dispatch from Berlin. Proclamations re-establishing the right of the Polish nation to control its own destinies were read at Warsaw and at Lubin. The form of government established by the proclamation is described as an autonomous hereditary monarchy. In effect it extends to the Polish provinces occupied by the central powers, with respect to city administration, rights of self-government similar to those enjoyed by the city of Warsaw since early in the war.

A street car crash in front of the City Postoffice in Washington yesterday afternoon, when a westbound car of the Washington Railway and Electric Company collided with another car of the same line at the west end of the Union Station Plaza, resulted in the injury of more than a score of passengers on the two cars and telescoped the ends of each car. Only three of the injured passengers went to hospitals for treatment.

"Jumbo", a ferocious bull, matched his strength yesterday against that of the locomotive pulling a freight train up a grade near Mason, Tex. In a field beside the tracks the engine lies on its side, only a few feet from where "Jumbo's" body lies. In a hospital at Mason, John Burns, fireman, is seriously injured. The locomotive was hurled down a steep embankment when it collided with the bull's headlong charge, but the animal continued so active that the train crew shot him.

The body of a well-dressed man, who shot himself in the mouth at least six months ago, was found Saturday in a grove off the Boulevard and Lincoln avenue, near Oakwood, L. I. A gold watch with the initials "C. A. C." on the back of the case was found in one of the pockets, and there was a gold ring on one of the fingers of his right hand, which held a 38-caliber revolver. His left hand was closed about a whisky bottle.

Seven were killed and thirty-seven were wounded in a battle at Everett, Washington, yesterday afternoon between Industrial Workers of the World and the authorities of the city of Everett and Snohomish County, supported by armed and unarmed citizens of both city and county. The dead include Lieut. C. O. Curtis, of Company L., National Guard of Washington, on special recruiting duty at Everett.

Mrs. Mary Sunderhaft, 85 years old, was killed by her daughter, Josephine, 52, Saturday in Dubuque, Iowa. The daughter later committed suicide by jumping into a well fifty feet deep. The daughter had been slightly deranged. The crime was committed by strangulation, the daughter having placed a piece of rope about her mother's neck and twisted it.

Continuing their powerful offensive against Trieste, the troops of Gen: Count Cadorna, under the eye of the King and the Duke of Aosta, have gained fresh success south of Gorizia. As a result of their operations of the last four days the Italians have taken prisoner almost 9,000 Austro-Hungarians.

The first Saturday night under prohibition developed little of the disorder that had marked the night in the past, in Richmond, only three drunks being held at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and the number of arrests from other causes being far below that of any Saturday night heretofore.

Criminal prosecution of persons believed guilty of illegal practices in forcing up the price of coal, bread and milk will be brought by the Department of Justice within the next few weeks, it was announced by the Attorney General yesterday.

The death list of Sunday's I. W. W. riot may stand at nineteen or more when the final count is completed.

Heavy rains and wet snows over all of southern Idaho yesterday made the roads bad and promised continuation of bad weather today is expected to curtail the rural vote.

Four persons, a woman and three men, were killed yesterday evening when a train struck the jitney bus in which they were riding at Freeman Station, near Haddonfield, N. J.

A vendetta, born long ago in the hills of Italy, culminated early yesterday in the killing of one man and the serious wounding of another as the last strains of a dance were being played at a wedding celebration in the Italian quarters of Chicago. The slayer, slipping his still smoking pistol into his pocket, seized a girl about the waist and, to the music of a fox trot, lost himself among hundreds of dancers and escaped.

Counter-attacking against Field Marshal von Mackensen's armies in Dobrudja, the combined Russians and Rumanians, under their now Russian commander, Gen. Sakharoff, have forced the Teutonic allies to fall back on a front of eighteen miles. In their withdrawal the Rumanian war office reports, the invaders burned four villages.

Prince Leopold, of Bavaria, commander of the Austro-German forces in Russia, probably will be proclaimed King of Poland, Simultaneously with the issuance of the proclamation in Berlin and Vienna granting political freedom to Poland, it was reported that a Bavarian prince would be placed upon the throne.

An Italian naval raid on the great Austrian base at Pola is announced by the Italian admiralty. A large Austrian warship was torpedoed. Another thrilling encounter also is reported for the first time. In this an Italian torpedo boat and a Teutonic submarine went down together after the submarine had unsuccessfully attempted to torpedo a troop ship.

Six States— California, Missouri, Montana, Utah, Nebraska, and South Dakota—will vote on proposals to abolish the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquor today. Of these, prohibition leaders say, Montana, Utah, Nebraska, and South Dakota, are believed certain to go "dry".

The State Department is alarmed over the fate of the nine or ten Americans said to be in Parral, and in possible peril at the hands of the Villistas. The report, as yet unconfirmed, that Dr. H. C. Fisher, an American citizen, was murdered some days ago at Santa Rosalia, has caused uneasiness.

Joe Johnson, a negro accused of killing a white man was taken from jail at Bay City, Texas, yesterday and hanged by a mob.

Repulsing Austrian counter attacks with the bayonet, the Italians have farther advanced and straightened out their lines on the Carso plateau, opening the way for a new blow, according to an official statement issued by the Italian war office. The Italians are now reaching the heart of the Austrian defensive works, which have been in the building for months. Trieste, the great Adriatic commercial port, is little more than 12 miles from the Italian advanced front.

Lloyds announces that the steamship Lanao, described by the shipping agency as an American vessel, was sunk on October 28 by a submarine. (The Lanao recently was transferred from American to Norwegian registry.) Thirty men from the Lanao were landed at Barr by the Norwegian steamship Tromp. German submarines have been active for some weeks off the Spanish coast, where the steamship Lanao apparently was sunk. One submarine commander was credited with the statement that he had received orders to sink all vessels bound for England. Spanish vessels, it is said, later were exempted on undertaking to carry nothing but fruit.

German forces Sunday several times assumed the offensive on the Russian western front in the region east of the village of Lipitiza-Dolnaia and west of the village of Silaventin, with the object of capturing the commanding heights occupied by the Russians. All the German attacks, according to an official statement issued by the Russian war department, were frustrated by a violent Russian artillery and rifle fire. The battle is still going on. Heavy fighting occurred near Kirlibaba, in the Carpathians, on the border between Bukowina and Hungary where the Austro-German forces were repulsed after a temporary success.

Additional progress was made during Monday by the French troops operating in the northern part of the St. Pierre Vaast wood and more prisoners also have been taken by them according to the official communication issued in Paris last night.

Seven men were killed and three were injured when a heavy freight train ran away for 10 miles on the New Portage branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad and crashed into four light locomotives standing at New Portage Junction, near Altoona, Pa., yesterday.

"Only 'Gets-It' for Me After This!"

"Gets" Every Corn Every Time. Painless. Nothing More Simple.

"I'll tell you what, I've quit using toe-eating salves for corns, I've quit making a package out of my toes with bandages and contraptions—quit digging with knives and scissors. Give me 'GETS-IT' every time!"

When You See These Pretty Girls in Your Druggist's Window It's a Good Time To End Your Corns.

That's what they all say the very first time they use "GETS-IT." It's because "GETS-IT" is so simple and easy to use—put it on in a few seconds—because there is no work or corn-fooling to do, no pain that shoots up to your heart. It gets your corns off your mind. All the time it's working—and then, that little old corn peels right off, leaves the clean, corn-free skin underneath—and your corn is gone! No wonder millions prefer "GETS-IT". Try it tonight. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Soldin Alexandria and recommended as the world's best remedy by Richard Gibson.

Human Factors

There are three parties to every telephone conversation—the party calling, the trained operator and the party who answers.

The calling party should give the number in a distinct voice; the operator should give a quick connection; and the called party should answer immediately.

Co-operation counts in telephone service.

When you telephone, smile.
